Graves, arraigned before Judge Frederick W. Fosdick in Suffolk Superior Criminal Court, pleaded guilty to the count in the indictment charging him with having perjured himself before the Boston Finance Commission in 1933.

Immediately following Graves' guilty plea in this connection, Judge Fosdick transferred his trial to Judge Harold P. Williams. Judge Williams accepted the transfer. Graves' counsel formally announced that Graves had waived a jury trial.

CHARGE HE FACES

Assistant District Attorney Frederick T. Doyle immediately began an opening statement of the state's case. With Graves pleading guilty to the charge of having perjured himself before the finance commission, the remaining charge, upon which he now is being tried, is that he committed perjury in his testimony against Curley and Dr. Santosuosso during the recent trial of the city's civil suit against them to recover money Graves said they were paid.

Doyle told Judge Williams the State will produce evidence that Graves, early in 1937, told a business associate:

"The crowd in Boston owe me money for the work I did in the Curley case."

Police officers who brought Graves back to Boston, Doyle said, will testify Graves admitted he testified falsely in the Curley-Santosuosso trial.

IN PROVIDENCE HOTEL

The state expects to show, Doyle told the court, that H. A. Osborn and Stuart Rand, prominent Boston attorney, met Graves in St. Louis and "procured" from him an affidavit. This affidavit, Doyle asserted, later was signed in the office here of Edward McClellenn, special counsel for the city in its suit against Curley and Santosuosso.

Doyle told Judge Williams, further, that the state expects to show that McClellenn misinformed the court during the Curley-Santosuosso trial concerning his claimed ignorance of Graves' whereabouts. McClellenn, Doyle said the state will prove, said he didn't know where Graves was when as a matter of fact, Doyle charged, Graves was at a hotel in Providence, and McClellenn's office was paying his bills.

The second day of the Curley-Santosuosso trial, Doyle asserted, while everyone was running around in circles looking for Graves, Graves, the state will show, actually was in touch with McClellenn's office by telephone.

First three witnesses, called in rapid succession, were John Patrick Connolly, clerk of the Suffolk Superior Civil Court; Cresson D. Curtice, assistant clerk of

New, Bigger Ford Car in 1939 List

DEARBORN, Mich., Oct. 6 (INS)—Henry Ford today entered the medium price car field, announcing a new car, the "Mercury Eight," will be ready for 1939 delivery.

Edsel Ford, president of his father's company, announced the new car, saying it will be priced between the De Luxe Ford V-8 and the V-12 Lincoln Zephyr.

The new car brings the list of Ford-made cars to five, including the Ford V-8 and the Lincoln V-12. A company statement said the addition of the Mercury enables the company to "bracket the market in which more than 90 per cent of all cars today are bought."

Union Fights Gauge Railroad Pay Fight

As the Narrow Gauge railroad sought today to cut wages of its employees 12 per cent by filing a petition of bankruptcy, Henry Wise, counsel for the Carmen's Union, filed a counter-petition that the bankruptcy act is unconstitutional.

Deer Island Deputy Suspended Month

For assaulting one of his guards, William E. Reilly, assistant deputy master at Deer Island House of Correction, was today suspended one month by Major George A. Mulcahy, master of the island.

Romeo Killer Shot, Captured

HICKORY, N. C., Oct. 6 (INS)—James Godwin, handsome young desperado who made love to a jailer's daughter, Lulu Belle Kimel, and persuaded her to free him from the Lexington, N. C., jail, was shot and captured near here today.

James Godwin Sheriff

Only a few minutes before Godwin's capture, his pal, William Wilson, voluntarily surrendered.

Godwin threw down his gun and surrendered after being wounded slightly by officers who surrounded him in a barn about two and one-half miles from here. He was rushed to a hospital here and given first aid treatment. He then was transferred to jail and will be removed later to High Point.

There he and Wilson face a charge of murdering Don Moss, who was shot down after Godwin and Wilson fled from the Lexington jail. Meanwhile, the jailer's daughter who fell under the spell of the fast-talking Godwin, began serving a three months' term behind bars herself for allowing the pair to escape.

10 Pilots Bail Out As Planes Crash

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Ten fliers, the crews of two Royal Air Force planes, parachuted to safety today when their planes crashed. One fell over Yorkshire, the other over the English channel. A third plane, also with a crew of five, is reported missing.

Pope to Broadcast To America Oct. 18

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Oct. 6 (AP)—A Vatican news service announced today that Pope Pius will broadcast a message of benediction October 18 to the Eucharistic Congress at New Orleans.

His broadcast will be at 6:30 p. m. (12:30 p. m. E. S. T.).

The congress is scheduled to open October 17.

Stock Prices Climb $1-$3

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Big buying orders flooded the stock exchange today and many issues rose $1 to $3 a share to the highest prices recorded in a year or more.

It was the seventh out of eight consecutive sessions of strongly advancing security markets since the four-power Munich conference last week started a "peace boom" in Wall Street.

Quotation boards flaunted "new highs" for the 1938 bull movement in such trading favorites as General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse Electric, Kennecott Copper, Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward.

Barnett Is Held In Cafe Slaying

Third man sought in connection with the fatal cafe shooting of Joseph B. Gallagher on Sept. 27, George E. Barnett, 35, of Canada, was arraigned for murder in Roxbury court today and held without bail for further hearing.

John C. "Jack" McCarthy, former boxer, and Daniel J. O'Neill, Jr., both of Roxbury, were arrested Oct. 4 and held without bail for the same hearing on Oct. 14.

CO-OPERATION URGED

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP)—Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, sees co-operation as the key to success of any farm improvement program. He cited co-operative farm insurance companies as an example.

Enforced Trip Abroad Illegal

Yuill Girl Taken From Her Parents

Spanks, Kisses Bared in Suit

Gay parties at which pretty, blond, young Mrs. Mary Alice Bailey Lawlor of Winchester and Weston was allegedly hugged, kissed and sometimes playfully spanked by men guests, were described in Middlesex probate court today.

Mrs. Lawlor is seeking a divorce from John K. Lawlor of Winchester and he has a $40,000 attenuation of affections suit pending against her parents.

SAYS HE MADE LOVE

Called as a witness for Lawlor today, his sister, Miss Martha Lawlor, testified she was present on frequent occasions when three men, "Norman," "Bill" and "Mr. H.," made love to Mrs. Lawlor, in her husband's absence.

Each of these men at various times hugged and kissed Mrs. Lawlor, the witness said, and each reclined on a couch with the pretty blond young wife.

Sometimes "Norman" and Mr. H. were guests of Mrs. Lawlor on the same evening, the sister-in-law testified.

SPANKED PLAYFULLY

On one such occasion, she said, the lights were turned out, there was giggling and scuffling, and when she switched the lights on again, Mrs. Lawlor was lying on the knees of the two men, her clothing was disarranged, and they were playfully spanking her.

GIGGLES AT DIARIES

When the sister-in-law protested against these "goings-on," she was told she could get out of the house if she didn't like things there, she said.

Two gilt-edged, leather-bound diaries, allegedly kept by Mrs. Lawlor before she left her husband, were introduced in evidence. The husband read excerpts from them in court, while Mrs. Lawlor, occasionally giggling, sat on her side of the courtroom taking notes.

AUSTEN LAKE, America's foremost sports writer and columnist, every day in the Boston American.

Forgiven by her dad, but still sadly worried about prosecution threatening the young married man with whom she was found in Lexington, N. C., 18-year-old Shirley Smith was back home in Winchester today.

Her father, C. Harold Smith, well-to-do Winchester auto dealer, said she was resting at the residence of a neighbor.

She need to catch up on sleep after her long auto trip with him from Lexington, where he interrupted her "love idyll," Smith explained.

He made two points clear, at once.

"AN ADORABLE CHILD"

Bygones are bygones with him, so far as Shirley is concerned. But —

He is sternly resolved to "let the law take its course" with his daughter's alleged abductor, 25-year-old George Everett Newhall of Winchester.

"Shirley is a naive, trusting girl, just an adorable child," Dad Smith said.

"She was the innocent victim in this unfortunate affair. There's more to the case than appears on the surface."

The whole story won't come out until federal agents, conducting the investigation, are ready to press their charges against Newhall.

"I've already told my daughter the past is forgotten. She's just the same girl to me she was before she went away."

"But that doesn't mean the man in the case will escape consequences of his acts."

NEEDS FOOD, REST

"He's a fine one to talk about romance. Shirley hasn't even been getting enough to eat. She's suffering now from under-nourishment."

"Except for that, however, she's perfectly all right. She'll be as well as ever after she is rested."

"We haven't talked about the future. I didn't want to seem to nag. Her mother is with her today."

"So far as Newhall is concerned."

BROCKTON, Oct. 6 (AP) — A probate court judge today removed a 13-year-old girl from custody of her parents because, he asserted, their insistence she accompany them to their new home in Scotland made them legally "unfit" to retain control over her.

Judge George M. Poland, in granting custody of Marion Yuill to the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, asserted:

"It is a serious affair violently to transport a person abroad when she is determined to remain here."

The child's mother, Mrs. James Yuill, broke into violent sobbing when the verdict was rendered.

Her husband said he would postpone the family's journey back to his native Scotland, until he could appeal to the Supreme Court.

Last Friday, the day before the family was to have sailed, the state society filed a petition to take custody of the girl and this prevented the family from sailing. On Tuesday, Marion, American-born, testified she was "the family budget" and was forced to do all the housework and care for four other children while her parents worked.

In addition, she said, the parents frequently beat her.

Both parents denied the charges.

Judge Poland stressed today the "unfitness" of the parents was attributed to them only because of their desire to take the girl abroad, against her will, and was not a reflection on their moral ability to care for her.

Flag Pole 'Sit Strike' Ended

ANDERSON, IND., Oct. 6 (AP) — A sheriff's posse put an end today to the 16-hour sitdown strike of J. G. Stafford, itinerant steeplejack, on the Madison county courthouse dome here.

Stafford climbed the flagpole on the dome, 250 feet above the street, and shouted to spectators below that he would stay there until county commissioners paid $150 they owed him.

With five helpers, Deputy Sheriff Fred B. Gossett slipped up on Stafford as he rested, half asleep, inside the steeple just to reach the dome.

He made no resistance when seized and brought down.

Robert Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation Board at Washington, D. C., today advised the First Corps Area that six abandoned New England projects would be reopened immediately.

Reoccupation will begin as soon as CC companies return from the Waterbury-Vermont project.

Mrs. Hitler Wants to Be A Briton!

LONDON, Oct. 6 (INS) — Irish-born Mrs. Bridget Hitler, sister-in-law of the German chancellor, is seeking to become a British subject again, it was revealed today.

She became an Austrian subject 24 years ago when she married the Führer's half-brother, from whom she was separated in 1914.

Owner Held In Lion Killing

WILDWOOD, N. J., Oct. 6 (AP)—A boardwalk side show operator, whose circus lion escaped, killed a man and terrorized this resort city for nearly three hours before a policeman's bullet killed it, was released under $5000 bail today on a charge of manslaughter.

Joseph Dobish, 51, the lion's owner, was arraigned before Recorder Leonard Byrne in connection with the death last night of Thomas Saito, 37, of Philadelphia, a Japanese auction room employee whose mangled body was found under the oceanfront boardwalk.

Until five weeks ago the 300-pound killer, known as "Tuffy," was one of two lions strapped to a motorcycle side car while the driver roared around a steeply sloped bowl called the "Wall of Death." Since then "Tuffy" had been inactive.

Sometime last night "Tuffy" escaped from the cage and roamed the nearby boardwalk.

Seven weeks ago he broke loose but was forced back into his cage after clawing his owner. Saito was about to enter his parked automobile when the lion pounced from the elevated boardwalk upon the man's back, and dragged him into the darkened recesses under the walk. There Saito's body was found, clad only in a ripped shirt.

Police, informed by Dobish of the lion's escape, hurriedly formed a posse of officers, firemen and volunteers. An armed cordon was thrown around a four-block area along the Atlantic Ocean.

Terrified citizens barricaded homes and stores as the alarm spread.

Then Patrolman John Gares, crossing the boardwalk, spied the lion bounding toward him.

He waited, pistol ready. When the animal came within ten feet he fired.

"Tuffy" fell dead at his feet with a bullet through his right eye.

Dog's Dilemma!

All Want Hector

By HOMELESS HECTOR

Well, Kids . . . here I am again . . . Homeless Hector . . . and I'm still without a home!

But, I must say that all you real folks are sure doing your level best to set me up in style . . . Yes, siree!

Gosh . . . I don't know what to do . . . Everyone is so dog-gone grand . . . All with but a single thought in mind . . . and mind you . . . that is only for my comfort.

Just imagine, fellers, a tiny mutt no bigger'n a pint o' peanuts opens his heart . . . and kinda wags a favor . . . just a chance in life . . . He appeals for a home . . . and a friend to share is his happiness and his heartaches . . . and he winds up by bringing out all the goodness and thoughtfulness in all New England.

ANOTHER FLOOD

Yes, siree, and I'm the one who did that very thing . . . Why, fellers, I've had all the telephone lines in the Boston Evening American tied up since I made my plea.

The flood and the hurricane were mild compared with the steady flow of phone calls . . . and the avalanches of mail that is pouring in . . . And every one full of sincerity . . . and understanding.

Yep, I guess there is little doubt about the popularity of the most-talked-of dog in New England these days . . . Homeless Hector of the Hurricane sure is King of Dogdom.

ALL GET CHANCE

And, Pals, I'm going to give you all a chance to play a prominent part in my fate.

All you have to do is write a letter to the Dog Editor telling of a kind act . . . a good deed . . . that you have done for a dog in need . . . or any dumb animal who needed a friend.

Hurry, Pals, and get those letters in the mail . . . they must be post-marked before midnight, Saturday . . . And then I'll buckle down and read every one . . . So let's hope that it is you who will learn of true sportsmanship . . . and real friendship through a lonely pup.

Editor's Note—The letters describing a good deed for some dumb animal must be written by a boy or girl 12 years old or under. All letters have to be post-marked before Saturday midnight and addressed to the Dog Editor, in care of the Boston Evening American.)

Hunt Bandits, Girl, in Ayer

State police today guarded all eastern Massachusetts highways in an attempt to trap two youthful bandits and their girl companions, believed hiding in Ayer since the crash-up of their stolen car but waiting their chance to flee in a second machine.

While the posse of troopers and town officers searched tangled forests in the Ayer-Groton vicinity, the sedan of John E. Stocker of Groton was stolen and it is thought the group will attempt a getaway.

Linked to two handbag snatchers in Cambridge, the gang possesses $140, police believe.

Editor Larkin Dies in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Joseph A. Larkin, 58, city editor of the New York City News Association since 1927, died at his home in Queens today.

Larkin, a native New Yorker, entered newspaper work 35 years ago after attending Manhattan College. He joined City News in 1912.

SAD but hopeful that he'll have a new master soon, Homeless Hector just sits and waits for some boy or girl reader of the Evening American to write a letter of some good deed to a dumb animal and thereby win Hector.

Man Is Found Burned to Death

Burned almost beyond recognition, a body believed to be that of a 62-year-old Spanish War veteran from Norwell was found on Mile road dump, Dorchester, today.

The victim was tentatively identified as Frank W. Bailey, Winter street, Norwell.

Still smoldering was a peat fire which apparently burned across the spot where Bailey lay, dead or unconscious.

Possibility of foul play was seen by Dorchester police, who notified the headquarters homicide squad.

Police did not believe Bailey had been an occupant of any of Mile road dump's hobo shacks, nor a visitor at the squatters' colony there.

His body was found on a stretch of waste land in the rear of the American Radiator Company factory.

$56,000,000 For P.W.A. Here

Thirty-five hundred men will be employed and $56,000,000 spent in PWA projects in Massachusetts between now and spring.

Philip Craighead, engineer in charge of the local office of PWA, announces the federal government will contribute $25,400,253 toward the cost.

There will be 155 projects, all of them underway before the New Year, some of them within the next few days.

Work will start next week on four projects for clearing the Quabbin reservoir.

Three of the four contracts for the clearing have been awarded to Coleman Brothers of Boston, for a total slightly under $1,000,000.

The fourth, for $469,975, has been given to the C & R Construction Company of Rosindale.

The unskilled laborers on the jobs will get 62½ cents an hour.

Two Boston projects, part of the fall and winter program of PWA, are already underway.

These are additions to Practical Arts High School, to cost $156,000, and William Howard Taft School, $446,000.

Within the next few days, work will begin on a $142,000 addition to Robert Gould Shaw School.

Another project will be the replacement of an old wooden sewer between Atlantic avenue and Central wharf.

Cambridge comes in for a lion's share of the PWA funds. There will be $356,000 worth of improvements at Cambridge High School.

$400,000 for a tuberculosis hospital, $350,000 for Webster School, $500,000 for a maternity hospital, $250,000 for a municipal incinerator, $175,000 for a municipal garage, $175,000 for a public parking garage near Central square, $50,000 for a branch library in East Cambridge, $215,000 for bridges.

PWA plans call for expenditure of $727,000 on Medford High School, $110,000 on Tufts School, $100,000 on Powder House Road School, $55,000 on Dame School.

For street construction, the city and the government will spend $200,000.

Brighton Boy Hit-Run Victim

After her nine-year-old son, Donald, collapsed when he reached home, Mrs. William Mosher, of Eastburn street, Brighton, reported to police today he had been the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

The boy told his mother he had been knocked down by a motorist, assisted to the curb and then left there. He walked home.

At St. Elizabeths Hospital physicians said Donald had a possible skull fracture.

Borah to Join Farm Bill Fight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (INS) — Senator William E. Borah (R.) of Idaho today swung to the support of Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith, South Carolina Democrat, in demands for wholesale revision of the farm relief law.

As discontent in the farm belt over low prices was reflected in an ugly temper on Capitol Hill, administration leaders frankly conceded President Roosevelt will have a rebellious Congress on his hands next January.

Idle Guardsmen To Patrol Storm Swept Forests

National Guardsmen who are out of work will be employed to patrol storm-swept forests of Massachusetts and keep down fire hazards.

A census of jobless guardsmen is underway. State authorities hope to send details of troops to every wooded area in the state.

For the present, apparently, the state will pay the men.

Eventually, Governor Hurley hopes to talk Harry L. Hopkins into allocating federal funds to slay some of the expense.

The state emergency commission, formed after the hurricane, has announced that 350 men employed under a WPA appropriation are ready to start work clearing up the fallen timber in Blue Hills reservation.

The work may start today, and will keep the men occupied for three months.

Boston Edison Company announced that its service was back to normal, with the exception of street lighting in some communities.

Regular street lighting will be restored within a few days.

The New Haven Railroad has restored Boston to New York service via the shore route.

U. S. to Increase R. I. Storm Fund

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 6 — Governor Quinn of Rhode Island announced today that his state had been promised further aid by WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins.

Hopkins will allocate a fund for the relief of fishermen and lobstermen, whose nets, boats and lobster pots were damaged in the hurricane and tidal wave. He will ask that they form co-operatives to take advantage of his offer. Already WPA has made a $3,000,000 grant for repair of bridges, highways and public utilities in Rhode Island.

Catholic Civic Duties Listed

HARTFORD, Ct., Oct. 6 (INS)—For the first time, a new version of the catechism, which will be distributed shortly to 20,000,000 Catholics, lists the religious obligations of a Catholic as a citizen, it was revealed today.

The new catechism, which was circulated privately in Hartford during the congress of the American Catholic Biblical Association, discusses such obligations of the Catholic as a taxpayer, voter, holder of public office, soldier and other civic roles.

DEMANDS PATRIOTISM

The catechism, which is still in a tentative stage, is the result of suggestions by 150 of the foremost Catholic theologians in the country and at the present time is only in the hands of bishops and archbishops, pending final approval.

According to the new version, a Catholic should go to the polls on election day and vote "without purpose." He must not "dodge just taxes."

He must be patriotic and always "ready to defend his country's rights even with his life." He must take an "active part in works of good citizenship."

If he is an office-holder, according to the new catechism, a Catholic is bound not to take bribes and he must promote "the welfare of all" in carrying out the duties of his office.

HITS AT PERJURIES

The duties of citizenship of the Catholic are taken up in the new version after discussion of the fourth commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother."

Listed as "most virtues are" filial piety and patriotism, which help us to honor and respect our parents and our country.

The new catechism terms the "accepting of bribes by public officials" as a violation of the Seventh Commandment:

"Thou shalt not steal."

Lying under oath is denounced as "the great sin of perjury."

The version continues:

"How do we know that we must respect any obey the lawful authority of our country?"

"We know that we must respect and obey the lawful authority of our country because God wills it, since civil authority is necessary for the welfare of men living on earth."

"Why are we obliged to take an active part in works of good citizenship?"

"We are obliged to take an active part in works of good citizenship because many needs and rights of our neighbor are such that unless we all work together to supply these needs and to guard these rights we shall fulfill our duty only imperfectly, if at all."

Males Given Cooking Tips

Several hundred women—and a few interested males too—turned out for the second in a series of fall cooking lectures given last night by Martha Lee in the school hall of the Gate of Heaven Church, Fourth and I streets, South Boston.

The cooking school is one of many conducted throughout Greater Boston by Martha Lee, popular home-making expert of the Hearst newspapers in Boston.

Last night's lecture was given under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of the Gate of Heaven Church.

Curley Accuser Put on Trial

court, and Miss Lillian D. Power, court stenographer.

Their testimony established the facts of the Curley-Santuosso trial. Curley testified it was he who administered the oath of Graves as a witness. Miss Power identified the official transcript of the court record.

Doyle then read the transcript of Graves' testimony into the record of the present case.

LIE HE ADMITS

Graves' plea of guilty in connection with his testimony before the Boston Finance Commission admits, in effect, that he lied when he told the commission he paid Ernest W. Brown, Inc., New York insurance firm, $30,000 in cash and a $25,000 certified check in connection with the city's settlement of the General Equipment Corporation's water-damage suit.

His plea of guilty to the first count leaves him standing trial on the second count of the indictment alone.

This second count charges that he committed perjury when he testified before Judge Fosdick at the trial of the city's civil suit against Curley and Dr. Santosuosso. This trial resulted in Curley and Dr. Santosuosso being ordered to return some $63,000 to the city which, Judge Fosdick found, had been paid to them improperly in connection with the city's settlement of the General Equipment damage suit.

PLEA IS SURPRISE

Specifically, Graves is charged with having testified falsely that he met Curley in the Hotel Mayflower in Washington in November, 1933, and that he had a conversation with him as to how much he, Curley, should be paid if the city settled the General Equipment suit.

Also, it is charged Graves perjured himself when he testified that Curley, as a result of this alleged conversation, told him to return to Boston and see Dr. Santosuosso.

Graves' plea of guilty to the "finance commission count" of his indictment came as a surprise, just after court, with more than 30 witnesses subpoenaed, was convened.

Assistant District Attorney Doyle informed the court that Graves' attorney, Lafayette R. Chamberlain, had informed him Graves would plead to one count of the indictment.

FACES 20 YEARS

Graves, perfectly groomed, wearing a light gray double-breasted suit and a blue tie, was brought into court by Court Officer Matthew Sweeney. He was placed in the cage, pleaded to the one "finance commission count" in brief, firm but clipped tone of voice.

His plea makes him liable to the punishments for perjury provided by Chapter 268, Section 1, of the statutes—not more than 20 years in state's prison, or more than $1000 fine, or not more than 2½ years in jail, or both fine and imprisonment in jail.

Judge Fosdick, immediately following Graves' plea, announced that he would assign Graves' trial on the remaining charge—the "Curley-Santuosso count"—to another judge.

JUDGES REFUSE

This was expected. Judge Fosdick, having presided over the city's civil suit against Curley and Santosuosso, already had indicated he considered himself ineligible to preside in the present case.

Judge Walter L. Collins and Judge J. Arthur Baker, Judge Fosdick announced, also regarded themselves as ineligible and have indicated they would refuse to accept the case if it were assigned to them.

Judge Williams, too, at one time sat on a question of law connected with the General Equipment-Curley, Santosuosso dispute.

ASSIGNED TO WILLIAMS

Whether this more or less remote previous connection would, in his opinion, render him too ineligible to preside over Graves' trial was a matter, Judge Fosdick pointed out, for Judge Williams himself to decide.

The hearing promptly was transferred to Judge Williams' courtroom.

Judge Williams, after studying the question, announced he would accept the assignment.

ISSUE: DID HE LIE?

Graves' action today in pleading guilty to the "finance commission count" of the indictment, it was pointed out, leaves the issue now to be decided by his trial a clear-cut one. The issue is:

Did he, or did he not, lie on the witness stand about former Mayor-ex-Governor Curley and Dr. Santosuosso?

Graves admitted, during the city's civil suit against Curley and Dr. Santosuosso, that he had lied under oath before the Finance Commission. So, in a way, his guilty plea in that connection today was not new.

The state knew it had Graves trapped one way or the other. Either he lied before the finance commission, or he lied in his testimony in the Curley-Santuosso suit. Today he said he lied—before the finance commission.

LIST OF WITNESSES

Thirty-four witnesses, including Curley and Dr. Santosuosso, are on the state's list and were in readiness to testify today. They are, besides Curley: Stuart Rand, prominent Boston attorney; Charles H. McGlue, Dr. Santosuosso, Budget Commissioner Charles J. Fox, Robert E. Cuniff, secretary of the Finance Commission; Colonel Thomas Sullivan of the Transit Commission, Mrs. Lillian H. Thomas of St. Louis, Harold Osborn, Attorney George I. Cohen, Captain John McCarthy, Inspector Paul Crowley.

Alex Freyberg, Frank S. Luciano, Richard C. Wildes, Arthur H. Whitcomb, Sr., Arthur H. Whitcomb, Jr., Charles F. Bailey, Herbert W. Roberts, Lillian D. Powers, a court stenographer; William B. Sleight, Sarah C. Early, a stenographer for the finance commission; John Patrick Connolly, clerk of the Suffolk Superior Civil Court; Cresson D. Currier, George F. Hall, Francis J. Murray.

Arthur Bignew, of the Biltmore Hotel, Providence; William J. Brown, vice-president of Ernest W. Brown, Inc., of New York; Louis Semm, Ralph H. Polio, manager of the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, and four clerks from the Copley Plaza Hotel—Genevieve O'Neil, Thomas Walsh, Eugene Welch and John Burke.

Chamberlain Wins, Pact OK'd

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The House of Commons today voted confidence in Prime Minister Chamberlain and approved his bargain of Munich for keeping Europe out of war. The final vote was 366 to 144.

The House, by a majority of two and a half to one, thus answered "yes" to Chamberlain's demand for approval of his historic conduct of British affairs during the recent crisis, which, he said, saved Czechoslovakia from destruction and Europe from Armageddon.

Earlier a Labor motion disapproving that policy as one which "led to the sacrifice of Czechoslovakia under the threat of armed force and the humiliation of our country" had been defeated.

GIVEN NEW OVATION

The House adjourned until November 1 amid a tremendous ovation for Chamberlain.

The prime minister left the chamber smiling and waving acknowledgments.

The two votes followed four days of debate on the crisis and the four-power agreement, which ended it, marked by vigorous government defense and bitter opposition as assaults in which some members of the prime minister's own conservative party joined.

Chamberlain himself wound up the debate, declaring he was opposed to a general election, which, he said, tends to "magnify differences."

Earlier Chamberlain's followers defeated a labor motion expressing disapproval of his foreign policy as expressed in the "peace of Munich." The vote was 369 to 150.

Before the vote was taken, Chamberlain, winding up the four-day debate, declared he was opposed to a general election, which would tend to "magnify differences."

"I AVERTED WAR"

"Possibly we may want great efforts from the nation in months to come," he said. "If that be so, the smaller the differences the better."

Chamberlain was cheered when he said he had read an age where criticisms, even abuse, matters little to a man "if his own conscience approves his action."

"In looking back," he said, "I feel convinced . . . that by my action I did avert war."

"I am equally sure I was right in doing so."

The prime minister said he could not ask the people to accept the horrors of war unless he felt himself, and could make others feel, that they were fighting "for a final cause—a cause that transcends all ordinary human values—a cause that is sacred."

SAVED CZECHOSLOVAKIA

He said he had received 20,000 letters since his first flight to Reichsfuehrer Hitler at Berchtesgaden September 15. He said they were from people who felt that the Sudeten German issue was not such a cause.

"To accuse us of having betrayed Czechoslovakia is simply preposterous," Chamberlain declared. "What we did was save her from annihilation and gave her a chance for a new life."

Then Chamberlain declared: "I do not want a general election. The tendency of general elections is to magnify differences. Possibly we may want great efforts from the nation in months to come. If that be so, the smaller the differences the better."

Paris Turns Down Balloon Defense

PARIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—The French government rejected today the suggestion of the Paris city fathers that this capital be protected by an eight-mile screen of captive balloons linked with cables and wire all around the metropolitan area and extending to a height of 2000 feet.

The government's reply said 3000 balloons and a ground crew of 40,000 men, with an initial cost of 2,000,000,000 francs (about $52,000,000), would be necessary.

Tokio Hears Soviet Chief Is Suicide

TOKIO, Oct. 6 (INS)—An unconfirmed report that Marshal Vassily Bluecher, famed commander of the Soviet far eastern army, has committed suicide was circulated by the Japanese official news agency, Domei, today.

Editor's note: A Reuter dispatch from Moscow reported the report "probably inaccurate."

Domei said that information "reaching a certain quarter" stated Bluecher had committed suicide by his Moscow hotel yesterday. There have been frequent rumors that Bluecher had fallen afoul of the Soviet authorities and it was regarded as significant that his name has not been mentioned for weeks in connection with Russian military activities.

Prague Commences Demobilization

PRAGUE, Oct. 6 (AP)—Immediate demobilization of two army classes was announced today by the government of dismembered Czechoslovakia.

It also ordered progressive return to civilian life of the remainder of the men called to the colors to defend the state before it was decided to submit to the German terms under French and British pressure.

Hurley Denies Dr. Mahony to Get Health Post

Governor Hurley today denied the report that he would substitute the nomination of Dr. Francis K. Mahoney of Lowell for that of Dr. Paul J. Jakubaus of Milton as state commissioner of public health.

The executive council has had the name of Dr. Jakubaus before it for several months as a successor to Dr. Henry D. Chidwick of New York but the governor, to date, has failed to win his confirmation.

Dr. Mahoney was said to have been substituted as a compromise in the Jakubaus council stalemate.

At the same time the governor asserted he had not abandoned the plans for a public hearing on the merits of the Jakubaus nomination.

The hearing, he said, had been scheduled for September 21 but the hurricane and flood frustrated his arrangement.

The governor further said he had not been approached by anyone in the interests of Mahoney.

He said the name of the Lowell physician probably entered into the discussion because of his visit to the gubernatorial office with a group of Lowell residents concerned with municipal problems.

Pa. Democrats Meet Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP)—The Democratic state ticket for Pennsylvania, headed by Governor George H. Earle and Charles Alvin Jones, and reported by Rensselaer Joseph F. Guffey, has an appointment at the temporary White House today with President Roosevelt.

Senator Guffey, who was under attack here, rejected the appointment and the President acquiesced.

Facing an uphill fight in next month's elections as a result of sensational charges and counter charges, the Pennsylvania Democratic state ticket is most anxious to persuade Mr. Roosevelt to speak in the state.

These close to the executive said, however, that, lacking possibly his home state of New York, the President would make no campaign appearances.

A Statement of Public Policy by The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company

The Honorable Wright Patman, representative in Congress of the first district of Texas, has announced that he will introduce in the next Congress a punitive and discriminatory tax bill frankly designed to put chain stores out of business. In the past, Mr. Patman has been very successful in securing enactment of legislation which he has sponsored. He has demonstrated that he is a very able lobbyist and propagandist for his own bill. The management of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is therefore faced with the necessity of deciding upon a course of action in relation to this proposed legislation—whether to do nothing and risk the possibility of the passage of the bill and the resulting forced dissolution of this business, or to engage in an active campaign in opposition to the bill.

In arriving at a decision, the interests of several groups of people deserve consideration—the management, the 65,000 employees of the company, the consuming public, the millions of farmers producing the country's food, and labor.

1. The Interests of the Management

The interests of the management can be dismissed as of very little importance.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is managed by George L. Hartford and John A. Hartford under an arrangement made by their father, George Huntington Hartford, the founder of the business. George L. Hartford has been actively engaged in the grocery business for 38 years, working generally as a day work, 52 weeks a year during that entire period. John A. Hartford has been actively engaged in the grocery business for 50 years, working generally as a day work, 52 weeks a year during that period. Both of these men could, of course, retire without personal or financial inconvenience and live very comfortably if chain stores were put out of business. The record of the last calendar year shows that out of any money earned annually from the business, in the case of George L. Hartford, 82 percent is paid to government in taxes, in the case of John A. Hartford, 81 percent is paid to government in taxes. As neither of the brothers has any children, any money left out of their earnings would accrue to their estates, and in the event of their death, inheritance taxes would probably amount to two-thirds of such accrued earnings, leaving approximately 6 cents on the dollar as a motive for continued personal service.

It is therefore apparent that the interests of management need hardly be taken into consideration in arriving at a decision.

2. The Interests of the Employees

The interests of the employees of the company are, however, a matter of very grave concern.

It is simply a statement of fact to say that the employees of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company generally throughout the United States receive the highest wages and have the shortest working hours of any workers in the grocery business, whether chain store or individual grocer. Many of them have devoted all of their working lives to the interests of the company.

The management, therefore, has a definite obligation and duty to defend the interests of these 65,000 employees against legislation intended to throw all of them out of work.

3. The Interests of the Consumer

Since this business has been built by the voluntary patronage of millions of American families, we believe that we must give consideration to their interests in this matter. Millions of women know how acute is the present problem of providing food, clothing and shelter for themselves, their husbands and their children out of their present income. When food prices go up it is not a question of paying more for the same food. They do not have the additional money with which to pay. Therefore, they must buy less and eat less. A P Food Store last year distributed at retail $881,700,000 worth of food at a net profit of 15¢.

The food was sold to the public at prices averaging from eight to ten percent lower than the prices of the average individual grocer. Literally, millions of sales were made at prices twenty-five percent lower than those of the average individual grocer. This saving of eight to twenty-five cents on each dollar is of vital importance to these millions of families. If they were denied the opportunity to buy at these lower prices it would simply mean that in millions of homes they would have to leave meat off the table another day a week, eat less fresh fruits and vegetables, give the growing child one bottle of milk less a week or stint on butter, cheese, poultry, eggs and many other of the most nourishing foods.

In the last 10 years during the greatest period of chain store growth, the number of individual dealers has increased rather than decreased. We maintain that there is nothing wrong when these dealers charge more than we charge. They must charge these prices in order to make a fair profit. The average grocer will, upon request, deliver the groceries to the customer's door and in many cases extends credit to some of his customers. Delivery service costs money. The grocer must put the added cost in the prices to his customers. In the same way the extension of credit involves the expense of bookkeeping, the tying up of capital, and credit losses. There is nothing wrong in the higher mark up of the individual grocer, because he is rendering a service that justifies his prices.

If some customers can afford and voluntarily elect to pay a higher price for groceries and meats because they want credit or because they want delivery to their homes it is quite proper that they should pay an additional price for such service. However, the millions of families in this country whose income is limited and who can have more and better food because they are willing to pay cash and carry home their own purchases, should not be denied this opportunity. Millions of families of limited incomes can only enjoy their present standard of living through these economies and savings. These millions of American families have helped to build a great business because they believe we have rendered them a great service. The company, therefore, has an obligation and a duty to protect the interests of those customers.

4. The Interests of the Farmer

Eight million farm families are engaged in producing the food consumed by the American people. All of the farm homes in America, therefore, comprising one-fourth of all of the population of the United States, have a direct interest in the methods of distribution by which the products of their labor and of the soil are marketed.

Approximately 30% of their production is marketed through the chain food store; about 70% through individual grocers. Their fruits, vegetables and other foodstuffs are sold through the chain stores at prices averaging 8% to 10% cheaper than the prices at which they are sold by many grocers. If the farmer sells a green product to both at the same price, the individual grocer must charge the public more to take care of his higher costs. Thus 30% of the farmer's products reach the public at low prices and 70% of his products reach the public at higher prices.

If the public cannot consume a given crop of apples, potatoes, berries or any other product, at the prices at which they are offered, these goods do not move from the grocer's shelves; a surplus accumulates and the farmer finds that he either cannot sell the balance of his crop or must sell it at a substantial loss. Only too often a situation arises when it is literally cheaper for the farmer to let his apples or his peaches rot on the ground than to expend the labor costs necessary to pack and ship them. Every farmer economist knows that a 10% surplus does not mean 10% less return to the farmer but often more than 10% less return.

In other words, the farmer's problem is to sell his products at the cost of production plus a fair profit and to get them to the public with as few intermediate costs and profits as possible. It is therefore obviously unfair to the farmer to propose legislation which would build, at a single blow, upon 30% of his distributed machinery—and that 30% the part which maintains the price to the farmer yet reaches the public at low cost because of economical distribution. It would be just as unfair to the farmer to propose putting out of business all of the individual grocers of the country who distribute 70% of his produce. Both chain food stores and individual grocers perform a distributive function vital to the interests of the farmer. If either failed to function the farmer would be faced with tremendous surpluses and heartbreaking losses.

For years the A & P has dealt with the farmers both as producers and consumers. We feel that we have a definite obligation and duty to oppose any legislative attack upon their best interests.

5. The Interests of Labor

Every business in this country has a vital interest in the purchasing power of labor. When labor has high wages and great purchasing power, everyone is prosperous. When labor's purchasing power is curtailed, all business suffers and the American standard of living is impaired. For many years it has been the wise policy of the national government to protect real wages and the purchasing power of the worker's dollar. Combination or agreements to raise prices, thus reducing real wages, have been declared illegal.

It certainly seems strange that it should now be proposed to destroy a group of businesses for the frankly admitted reason that they furnish the necessities of life to the wage earner and his family at low prices. There are approximately 9,000,000 workers directly employed in the chain store industry. What course is open to us but to oppose the action of a man who, at a time when more than 11,000,000 wage earners are already out of work and 3,000,000 families on relief, proposes a bill that would add almost another million to the roll of unemployed, wipe-out 30% of the distributing machinery of all of the farmers at the United States, and raise the cost of living of the wage earners of the United States?

We believe that our organization has rendered a great service to the American people and that it is as a result of that service that we have prospered. If we committed our own interest it would be very easy to stop and enjoy whatever leisure we have earned. No one is dependent upon us except our fellow workers. However, after the fullest consideration of all interests, we have arrived at the decision that we would be doing less than our full duty if we failed to oppose, by every fair means, legislation proposed by the Honorable Wright Patman.

As we have said, Mr. Patman is an able politician, an able lobbyist and an able propagandist. In that field he is an expert. We are experts only in the grocery business. We believe the chain stores have a right to present their case to the American people. We will not go into politics, nor will we establish a lobby in Washington for the purpose of attempting to influence the vote of any member of the Congress. We expect only a full and fair opportunity to present the case for the chain stores as a great service organization for the American people.

Since the task we have set before us is one involving the widest dissemination of complete information to all of the American people, and since this is a profession in which we are not experts, we have engaged Carl Byars & Associates, public relations counsel, to do this work. We realize that our views are seldom news. We know, therefore, that we must be prepared to spend a substantial sum of money in telling our story to all of the American people. We declare now that this money will be spent in the dissemination of information through paid advertising and every medium available to us, and in cooperating in the work or formation of study groups among consumers, farmers and workers, which provide open forums for a discussion of all measures affecting the cost of living.

We believe that when the American people have all of the facts they will make their decision known to their representatives in Congress. As Americans we will be content with that decision.

Britain Moves To Quell Arab Rebellion

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Great Britain took swift military and diplomatic steps today to quell Arab rebellion in Palestine.

Colonel Scobie, Malcolm MacDonald told the House of Commons four bombers and two cavalry regiments were being rushed to the Holy Land where the British government admitted there was a serious deterioration in the general situation.

Sir Harold MacMichael, high commissioner for Palestine, flew to Haifa today to report fully on conditions.

Four troops and aviators killed an estimated 40 Arabs in punitive expeditions near Mount Tabor and West Safed yesterday.

CZECHS TO EXHIBIT

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Despite its difficulties, Czechoslovakia will participate in the 1939 Worlds Fair as scheduled, the nation's consular general has informed fair officials.

Italy Purge Bans Jewish Authors

ROME, Oct. 6 (AP)—Textbooks by 114 Jewish authors were banned in Italian schools today as denunciations of the Fascist grand council were awaited on anti-Jewish measures.

The proscribed writers were listed in a circular issued by the ministry of education.

Also on the program of a grand council meeting tonight under Premier Mussolini's direction were final approval of a new legislative chamber and discussion of the general political situation growing out of the four-power Munich conference on the partition of Czechoslovakia.

Since then the announcement that France would send an ambassador to Rome and recognize the Ethiopian empire has provided a new Fascist triumph to be evaluated.

The council was expected to adopt measures expelling Jews from administrative posts of the state and limiting their participation in the full life of the nation to the ratio of the population about one Jew to 1000 others.

U. S. Firms Donate To Nazi Poor Fund

BERLIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—United States firms having plants in Germany today were among the first to respond to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's appeal for substantial contributions to Germany's winter relief fund.

The Ford Motor Company, the Woolworth Company, the Opel Motor concern which has relations with General Motors, and the Chrysler American Petroleum Company were among early donors.

Germans Given New Slice of Czechoslovakia

BULLETIN

GENEVA, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Czechoslovak delegation to the League of Nations announced today that the German members of the international Sudetenland commission at Berlin had drawn up new demands for the cession of territory beyond that contemplated by the accord of Munich.

BERLIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—The international Sudetenland commission handed Adolf Hitler a choice new section of Czechoslovakia today, half as large as the Munich four-power conference gave him outright.

It asked out a "fifth zone" which Hitler's armies could take over without formally as German territory.

With the fifth zone defined, the zone had taken up approximately 100 square miles of territory.

Of the about two-thirds had been assigned to him by the Munich conference a week before, and he was now asked to take over the remaining third.

In all, the German demand was a good deal larger than the Munich conference had given him, and he was now asked to take over the remaining third.

The Munich conference had stated that the international commission was asked to take over the remaining third of the territory and to make a final decision on the basis of a report by the commission.

Wonder of Wonders: Czechs, Nazis Allies!

By PIERRE J. HUSS

BERLIN, Oct. 6—An outright military alliance between Nazi Germany and what remains of Czechoslovakia was predicted in well-informed circles today as a sudden and unforeseen spur of Czech-German co-operation facilitated work of the international commission mapping out new boundaries.

In contrast to the strained and protracted negotiations yesterday, when German insistence and pressure were needed for fulfillment of the Reich demands, the Czechs today displayed a surprising eagerness to cooperate.

It is an open secret that Czechs, Hitler already has placed Prague military and police under German control.

With Germany already permitted to occupy by October 10 all Sudeten areas having German population of 51 per cent or more, which itself went beyond the original terms of the Munich four-power agreement, overnight developments found Czechs ready to co-operate with Berlin.

REPLACES SOVIET FACT
Despite material and economic problems still to be ironed out, the trend toward an eventual Czech-German military alliance to replace Prague's treaty with Soviet Russia appeared inevitable.

With Germany already permitted to occupy by October 10 all Sudeten areas having German population of 51 per cent or more, which itself went beyond the original terms of the Munich four-power agreement, overnight developments found Czechs ready to co-operate with Berlin.

CZECHS KEEP ARMS
It became increasingly apparent that with the renunciation of Entente Britain as Czech president, his government, although it had been officially announced, was still in the hands of the German regime.

The Germans granted an unexpected concession by agreeing to allow Czechoslovakia to remain and keep arms and all war materiel.

NO WONDER thousands of lovers of fine coffee have changed to Bokar. Many of them get a big saving—up to 10c a pound! And they are delighted with Bokar's fine, fresh flavor. Bokar is delicious and satisfying—because it is a distinctive blend of choice coffees, and selected at the plantations by A&P experts. It awaits you at your A&P Store fresh from the roaster, in the whole bean, with all of its goodness sealed in by Nature itself. Coffees ground days or weeks in advance quickly lose flavor and aroma. That's why Bokar is never ground until the very moment you buy it. Remember fresh grinding is the secret of a cup of good coffee! What's more, Bokar is ground exactly right for your coffee maker—another reason why it is so flavorful and satisfying.

What's YOUR Photo Verdict?

Should this newspaper publish pictures like the above? The editors ask the readers. Two reasons for its publication may be advanced: (1) it is new, (2) it is a lesson in highway safety. These two reasons prompted its publication today and the latter reason was the predominant one. But it is also a picture that may shock the sensibilities of some people. The question is whether this newspaper is justified in publishing a picture that shows the means of recklessness people use to highway danger, making driving safer, saving life? What do you think? For the best answers, in 50 or fewer words, the Boston Evening American will pay $5 apiece. Address your letters to Picture Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop square.

To Relieve BABY'S HEAD COLD Misery

DO THIS: Massage his throat, chest, and back with Vicks VapoRub and tuck him into bed. Next, put a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water; place child's head over the bowl, covering his face with a towel. The steam can be inhaled for several minutes. This treatment loosens mucus, soothes the throat, and helps the child to breathe. After he has rested for an hour, VapoRub a powder-scented vaporizer is still bringing relief and good night's rest.

Sister Killed Foiling Murder

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 6 (INS)—A woman who gave refuge to her sister was shot to death today by the latter's estranged husband who wounded two policemen before he was shot in the shoulder and trapped.

Two bullets from the gun of James M. Conley, 28, who stopped in front of Rooney's as he headed to his home, killed the woman. Rooney was armed with a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver. The McCauley apartment, in which his wife had been living, was the scene of the shooting.

Conley fled down a fire escape into the arms of two policemen who had heard the gunfire. Rooney pursued her, continuing to shout for the police. Conley was wounded in the leg and abdomen. Rooney was grazed in the face.

Ticket Scramble Is on For 'Battle of Music'

That New England loves its music, that its old and young alike are vitally interested in the best there is in orchestration, is being proven daily.

The battle of music is the war of the century, which began in the early days of the 20th century, and is now being fought in the most dramatic and colorful manner.

Many of these music lovers are old-fashioned followers of swing and jazz, but the new music is also being followed by a large number of people.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

WHEN BENNY GOODMAN AND RUDY VALLEE signed on a couple of dotted lines to appear simultaneously in Boston for this paper's Christmas Basket Fund, a Boston trend seems to have been started . . . The Bradford Penthouse will install next Wednesday a pair of bands to keep the entertainment continuous . . . Leon Prima, as "hot" as any of the swing outfits, will occupy part of a revolving stage, and on another part, Frank Ward and his Penthouse orchestra, will come into sight at the press of a button when the Prima men have finished a "set" of music . . . A show featuring a dozen and a half girls—"beautiful" girls—will add to the zest of the program . . .

Prima played last season at the James Hotel in New York . . . That he was swayed onto Hollywood to accompany Jack White and others in the picture called "The Street," a Warner's special . . . To "cover" the Rialto like a tourist tonight, a single reporter would need a motorcycle escort . . . Four dinner and supper club premieres are scheduled . . . The Somerset's Balinese Room, the new Casa Manana, under the direction of the two Jack Browns, the 1938 version of the Towne Club will be unveiled, too, with a lavish show, and the Mayfair presents a new show with Cross and Dunn . . . Note: We'll do our best . . .

Some columns ago, comment was made that linking of the name of Daught Deere Woman, of the economic royalty, as producer of a show entitled "Swing to the Left" seemed strangely incongruous . . . The title has been changed . . . The show, which will star Jimmy Durante and Ethel Merman and probably open in Boston, is known now as "This Is It" . . .

That makes three title changes this week of important entertainments . . . The Victor Moore-William Gaston-Sophie Tucker carnival has been retitled "First in the Hearts" (from "I Am an American," and later, "Nameless") . . . The Ina Claire vehicle formerly known as "Generals Need Beds" is now called "Yankee Fable."

Once Over Lightly:

Lou Brema, the city's greeter, told a few dialect stories which had Basil Rathbone laughing loudly . . . Brema interested the visiting actor with an explanation of the origin of the expression, "Whizzer" . . .

It is a trumpery anticlerical from the Russian . . . At one time, Russian and English peasants cultivated pet birds and kept them in their homes . . . After working in the fields the Russian shore-croppers would come home with flocks of grain adorning to their necks and ears . . . The birds would sit on the shore croppers' shoulders and peck at the bits of grain . . .

Wednesday Park's official greeter, Young Happy Robinson, is a great admirer of Greeter Brema . . . Each is dapper, and handsome in his own way . . . But Boston's Brema has a slight edge in culture on Young Happy, who is determined to take up the slack . . . Happy is acquiring a Harvard dialect, and is learning the Harvard songs . . . In the matter of cheer, he has gone to unnecessary work in his wicker chair . . .

Reciting one of the Crimson cheers for his boss, Sheldon H. Fairbanks, last night, Young Happy yelled it verbatim as follows: "Rah, rah, rah—Hah-vuhd . . . Rah, rah, rah, Fill in Name Of Player, Hah-vuhd!" . . . He is doing better in the study of French . . .

Mary Sunde, the star of this week's Old Howard show, knew that her friend, Joyce Dana, the film critic, lived in Winthrop . . . But she overestimated the wide open spaces of New England and sent Joyce a letter via airmail . . .

Mystery of the strange death of Playwright Frank Vosper, author of "Love From a Stranger," has deepened with the discovery that Vosper left America for his native England with $20,000 in cash . . .

His unslashed body was washed up on the shore of the Corn wall coast, after he was missed from an ocean liner . . . Both French and British authorities are now investigating . . .

Paul Levi, the Metropolitan Theater press-agent, and Edith Stevens, the newspaper cartoonist, celebrated their birthdays together at the press party for Basil Rathbone . . . One important cast change is planned for "Knickerbocker Holiday" . . .

In that play, John E. Young is cast as one of the Dutch councilors . . . The veteran actor once was star of the only play written by O. Henry . . . The piece was called "Lol" (as in "Lo, the poor Indian") . . . Franklin P. Adams collaborated with O. Henry and the play was a failure . . .

Shelia Barrett has a story, "Without Footlights," in the current number of Stage Magazine; her admirer, Paul Gallico, has a story in the Saturday Evening Post, and her best friend, Adela Rogers St. Johns is represented in Cosmopolitan Magazine by a yarn called "Capital Close-up" . . . In her story, Shelia takes a weighty aunt at so-called "society singers" . . .

More Woe For Leary In $500 Bid

Inserts in the primaries, Thomas H. Leary, Cambridge speed officer, has had nothing but woe, and eats

The campaign to defeat himself failed when a vote directed him to defeat in the Commonwealth state election.

Today he received five $500 fines from the Commonwealth state committee for the gap dinner and breakfast, and the pay for, there.

"Where am I going to get my amuckers?" asked Leary dejectedly. Most of all people, a cop!

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 6.—(AP)—The Albany, N. Y., state legislature today passed a bill to create a new office of "state auditor" to be filled by a person who would be responsible for the state's financial affairs.

"Maybe I should have run on the Republican ticket."

Basil Rathbone No Villain Here

By GEORGE HOLLAND

What is Basil Rathbone really like? A fortunate few—reporters, and employees of the Hotel Statler chiefly—got an answer to a question which those who know the glamorous villain of the screen are asked most frequently.

Rathbone passed a few hours in Boston, going out here from the Hotel Statler, where he is staying. He is a New Yorker, a New Yorker, a New Yorker. He is a New Yorker, a New Yorker, a New Yorker. He is a New Yorker, a New Yorker, a New Yorker.

OFF-SCREEN FACTS: He is an off-screen fact, which is kindly and a kindly. He is a kindly, a kindly, a kindly. He is a kindly, a kindly, a kindly. He is a kindly, a kindly, a kindly.

LOOKS THE HERO: But the impressive thought occurred early in this number of the early was one of amazement. Most villains of the screen and stage look like villains even under the softening influence of a smiling and best portrait man.

PAPER SWORDSMAN: OF course, he is a swordsman. He is a swordsman, a swordsman, a swordsman. He is a swordsman, a swordsman, a swordsman. He is a swordsman, a swordsman, a swordsman.

NOT IMPOSSIBLE: This approach to the method is not impossible. Rathbone is not impossible. Rathbone is not impossible. Rathbone is not impossible. Rathbone is not impossible. Rathbone is not impossible.

DOES BLADDER IRRITATION: WAKE YOU UP? It is not normal. It is a warning. It is a warning. It is a warning. It is a warning. It is a warning. It is a warning. It is a warning. It is a warning.

DON'T Scratch!: You risk infection. To quickly ease the stinging itch, soothe irritated skin, and aid healing, apply comforting RESINOL.

Film Star Gives Ear To Greeter

FILM STAR Basil Rathbone visits Boston and is feted by city. Lou Brema, official city greeter, keeps the honored guest in good humor with humorous stories as only Lou can tell them.

State Backs Apple Drive

The Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission today stepped in to aid the sale of the apple crop. James A. McInerney, newly appointed chairman of the development commission, issued an appeal which read: "In a crisis like this, when our farmers are hard hit by the storm, all of us should pitch in and make as great use of our native product as we can possibly manage."

Canada Unions Told to Quit CIO

HOUSTON, Oct. 5.—The American Labor Union (ALU) today issued a statement in which it urged Canadian unions to quit the CIO. The statement was issued in response to a request from the CIO for Canadian unions to join the CIO. The ALU stated that it did not want Canadian unions to join the CIO because it would weaken the ALU's position in Canada.

Chatter in Hollywood: You can hardly keep track of all these young people in Hollywood, so fast changing are their romances. One of the most surprising friendships that has suddenly developed is that of Anita Louise and Richard Arden, who have been seen twice dining in a quiet little restaurant near Century City.

One of the weekend Tyrone Power escorted Anita Whelan to a beach party, so it looks, in spite of the many denials that will precede it, follow this item, as if Arden and Louise have indeed part company.

Holiday Opening At Met for Lloyd Epic

For his big production of the season Frank Lloyd has chosen a story of one of the most captivating characters of all time. Francis Villon, the poetry writing rogue from the back streets of Paris, who dared woo a royal princess. The picture starring Ronald Colman, in "If I Were King," is scheduled to have a holiday opening next Wednesday at the Metropolitan.

Colman has become almost as romantic a character on the screen as Villon is in history. The English actor captured the hearts of audiences everywhere a few years back with his "Rough Castle" and has been turning in romantic portrayals ever since.

In "If I Were King" Colman has for his leading lady for the first time lovely Esme Comer, who scored so superbly in a year ago in "Wells Fargo," another Frank Lloyd production. Her new role is that of Katherine De Vasconcelos, a young princess and a queen of France, who falls in love with a ruffian.

The story of the picture is the most... which have been based on Villon's life. As the story develops, it comes a rapid... the picture is a beautiful work. After watching the favor of Louis XI in a street brawl, Villon with the task of leading the powerful Burgundian armies from the gates of the city.

Lloyd chose a historical setting supporting cast in keeping with the liveliness of the production. In a leading role is Basil Rathbone, recently seen in "Rough Castle" and "The Sign of the Cross." He plays the king who is sent his empire to a vanguard. Eileen Drew, Paramount's newest star, has an early role as Colman's lover. Arthur M. Lee, William C. Feltus, and Alma Lee are also in the cast.

Fraud Charged In Loew Suit

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 6. (APR.)—Extensive compensation, including percentage payments and stock options, are provided for under contracts by Loew's Incorporated with various executives and other individuals to the detriment of stockholders. It was charged in a bill filed in court of chancery by three stockholders.

Many luminaries in the motion picture industry in Hollywood are named in the bill of complaint filed by Clarence A. Southern, counsel for the complainants.

Among the defendants is Norma Shearer, widow of Irving Thalberg. She and Edwin J. Loeb and the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association are listed among the defendants as executors and trustees of the Thalberg estate.

Other defendants are Louis B. Mayer, Nicholas M. Schenck, Arthur M. Loew, David Brown, J. Robert Hulton, George N. Aronson, Isidor Ray, Leopold Frohman, Charles C. Moskowitz, John B. Hard, Alexander Luchman, William A. Parker, William A. Phillips, David Warfield, Thomas N. Parkinson, Bernard H. Brown, Sam Katz, Edward J. Mander, Harry Kauf, Benjamin L. A. Wengert, Morley L. Hunt, and others.

Edward F. Stiner, Harry W. Gould, and Louis Sussman. The suit charges that the defendants have conspired to defraud the stockholders of Loew's Incorporated of the value of their shares.

The defendants are to appear by November 12.

Contracts according to complainants, defraud the corporation and the shareholders' and "illegally dissipate the profits" and "are, in effect, a substitution of a speculative asset and waste of the corporate assets and property."

The bill seeks an accounting from the defendants, cancellation of contracts, an injunction against continued payments under the contracts, and a decree awarding damages to the complainants.

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

OUT OF COMMISSION

The Editor Says: Uncle Sam is more than ever determined to refrain from foreign political adventures.

That lesson he learned in 1918, after expending billions of dollars and thousands of lives.

The recent European crisis proved the lesson's wisdom, happily without cost or danger.

Uncle Sam's duty was never clearer. It is KEEP OUT OF EUROPEAN WARS BY KEEPING OUT OF EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

AN IMPORTANT EVENT, of interest to every New Englander, is the National Fisheries Convention and Exposition, opening today in Boston.

Fishing is as old as civilization. Long before man learned to write or even to fashion, the fisherman was extracting food from the sea. Truly no enterprise can claim a more romantic or interesting history.

But these matters will concern itself chiefly with FISHING TODAY, and that is proper.

It will emphasize the fact that the seafood industry is not a thing that stands alone and apart, but an activity that puts millions of dollars into circulation each year, buys the products of mills, farms and mines, and leads the nation's march from depression to prosperity.

Everyone interested in New England recovery should this week resolve to acquaint himself with the fishing industry, which, as has been truthfully said, is worth more to those industries allied with it than it is to itself and hence is of prime importance to all men and women who work for a living.

THE "JITTERBUG" AGE has not abandoned the "Jo's and dani's" of social usage, but today's manners are less staid, more natural. So says Professor Gertrude Binley Kay, Emerson College's drama department head.

For instance, one may now dunk his doughnut if he wishes. But—and it is a large BUT—he must restrict this pleasure to an informal party in the home. Never is dunking to be attempted at a formal dinner or in a hotel restaurant.

Hundreds will applaud this social concession, particularly those hundreds who like to relax in leisure hours and be "just themselves."

More important, however, is Professor Kay's advice to young people: "Selfishness or ignorance of social ignorance can easily be overcome by a little study and practice."

A GOLDEN AGE will end suffering and hardship in America, says Dr. Karl T. Compton, brilliant president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He paints a beautiful picture. He says:

"Every person will be more immensely wealthy, but only the scientist impelled by an interested curiosity can find the way. Science will do this not by depleting resources, but by FRESH CREATION never before dreamed of."

Cynics will question that. Speculators of fantastic pension plans and makers of stock schemes especially will doubt it.

Fortunately, persons who think will not share the skepticism. Their greater intelligence will grasp the logic of Dr. Compton's belief that Science, creator of the marvelous Machine Age, can and should produce the Wonderful Tomorrow.

GOOD NEWS for many Massachusetts cities comes from the New England Shoe and Leather Association.

Our State leads the nation in the production of shoes, surpassing even New York. Our output exceeds last year's by 4.5 per cent.

But we cannot afford to rest on our laurels. We still have too many closed factories and too much unemployment.

The Human Side of the News

Into the Crypt Of Yesteryear

By EDWIN C. HILL

DROPPING in at the opening of a new and swanky New York restaurant the other night, I had an experience which made me think I ought to have my head examined.

A neatly tailored and personable diner, smoking a cigarette, suddenly became blurred in outline and emerged as a big, shaggy man, with a weeping willow moustache, a Prince Albert coat and a big cigar.

A girl in a simple evening gown, and a simple, modish coiffure, took on a train and flounces and the Gibson-girl hair rig, which I believe was achieved by the aid of a "rat."

This was happening all over the place. The orchestra had been playing "A Ticket-A-Ride," and other such current musical trivia, and then, so help me, it shaded off into "Hearts and Flowers," "The Band Played On," and others from the deep crypt of memory.

All at once the whole thing checked just as I was about to ask the hostess if there was an alienist in the house. This new restaurant is on the exact spot of the famous Rose Room of the old Waldorf.

HEY! There's something over there that looks like a story. Old John W. Gates, having a drink with Ike Ellwood? Ellwood has been smearing Gates, and Gates has been taking a belt at Ellwood every once in a while.

"BETCHA MILLION" AND FRIENDS
In Vision, Old Gates Seemed Clubby.

Ellwood said Gates learned everything he knew peddling wire fence for Ellwood, and then double-crossed him by setting up for himself and taking the firm's customers. And here they are getting clubby again.

Gates has been trying to rig some kind of a big steel company in Ellwood in on it? There's a good yarn if I can get that old warner to talk.

IT'S DISCONCERTING the way these people kept on just coming in and out. George C. Ball, about a hotel manager is he? seems to be getting excited about something.

And what do you think of our Rose Room, Mrs. Astor? . . . Disgraceful! Scarcely a person here one would care to receive.

There's Judge E. H. Gerry, too.

ing on Gates and Ellwood. I wonder what they are cooking up. The Judge must spend a fortune in champagne there he goes, ordering a round for that big table in the corner, and I don't think he ever saw one of them before tonight.

"MAKE MINE a pause café." The waiter and they weren't mixed any more. Then I tried for a alone fence, a horse's neck, a Mulligan, a whiskey daisy and a sherry flip and with the same result and to the mounting alarm of the waiter. That brought me to it.

The ghosts were gone, the music was swelling, the men were smooth-shaven, the women trim-rigged, and the hard dynamism of modern decoration had blasted away the mellow romance of the old Rose Room, and catch-as-catch-can drinkers had replaced the noble old members of yesteryear.

Actor's Head Soft Seat For Baseball Writer

By DAMON RUNYON

Copyright, 1933, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International Copyright and

WE MENTIONED the Baseball Writers' Association of America yesterday and meant to tell you how it all started, but we got plumb off the track and our space petered out before we could get back on the rails again.

Well, a matter of 30 years back, came this very World Series, the press box at the Polo Grounds was on the field level in back of the home plate and not far from the Giants' bench and in those days the Giants were the favorite flock of all the big towners and the Yankees were just some fellows playing practically anonymously somewhere up on Washington Heights.

At the Broadway mob and of a period when Broadway was Broadway to sit in the old frame stand in the lee of Coogan's Bluff and cheer for the Giants and Johnny McEraw. He was a great fellow about Broadway, said McEraw.

NOW SOME of the actors and other celebrities liked to sit as close to the Giants' bench as possible so they could give Johnny McEraw and his ball tossers the same old the salute that Broadway always had on tip for a winner—and still has—and more and more they began encroaching upon the press box, and taking the baseball writers' chairs. The writers did not squawk much about the invasion.

Eventually, however, even the New York writers commenced to feel that the visitors were rather over-doing the things but they could not think of anything to do about it then. They just took to sitting back in the stand and taking their notes of the game there, leaving the press box

'Bugs' Baer Says:

AFTER six weeks in Europe we feel like Omar who was tossed out of the same gate that he entered. In more polished circles the Persian Awaiting and Tent Maker lamented that he hadn't learned a thing. And neither did we. Hard enough even.

OVER IN EUROPE you see what they want you to do.

And nothing more. But to be embarrassed by the academic travelers who yell through the nearest districts in each pair and then write a book about it. They don't know any more than a mole in an abandoned mine.

NOBODY can get into Germany as a passport, but you can get out on a wrong head. We got a glimpse of Spain and a glimmer at Gibraltar. But you have no chance of finding there than a humming bird in a war cloud.

THE RHINE is prohibited terrain and anybody carrying a camera is quarantined until his fingers bleach out. Europe is on edge like a card index. But nobody knows when the works are going to blow.

AND THE WRITERS who write about the foreign works are either thinking what they hope or writing to keep their jobs. Nobody can tell the truth over there and get his laundry back.

Muscle Tightener for Throat-line, Puffy Eyes

NOW THAT you've bared your swan-like neck to the autumn breeze . . . braved the revelations of the upped coiffure and the simple high neckline . . . does your throat tell a tale of woe?

If it does, it's time to call in a quick-acting muscle tightener that many women have found worth its weight in sapphires and rubies.

Some of its greatest marvels have been accomplished with prostheses that had already abandoned the flesh flange are of youth. But it is equally amazing when put to work on blurred contours anywhere . . . whether they're around the chin, under the cheek bone, or up around the under eye muscles.

It is a fragrant cool balm (astringent, and when first you put it on you notice its astringent effect) tingling up on tight-drawn skin. And facial contours will be smoothed to the unperturbed lines that mark a new face.

Deeply perceiving the massive truthness and has a nourishing kind of intellect that form some traces. It somehow manages to strengthen the muscles of those and work that give the dancing a laid-down look.

If there's anything more he suffers from than a sag under the chin, it's the half-moon of hanging flesh under the eyes that comes from a chronic period of tired condition... commonly known as bags un-

Bluenose Race With Thebaud Still Uncertain

Date of the international fishermen's race series between the famous schooners Bluenose and Gertrude L. Thebaud, scheduled to start Sunday off Nahant, was to be determined today at a "crucial" meeting of the race committee.

Committee members arranged to meet at the Chamber of Commerce this noon and discuss protests of Captain Angus Walters, skipper of the Canadian Bluenose and present holder, against the two race courses and certain rules of competition.

Whether or not the much publicized event to decide the sailing supremacy of western Atlantic waters would be held this year depended on the judgments made today and Captain Walters' approval of them.

PROTESTS COURSE

Bitterly assailing the committee for laying out two 18-mile triangular courses off Gloucester and Boston, around which the schooners must sail twice, Captain Walters declared:

"I won't race over such a merry-go-round course. The dred of gift governing the trophy race calls for a 40-mile course, which is best for the craft and can be run best on a triangular course with sides long enough to make up the specified distance once around."

Captain Charles M. Lee, the race committee chairman, replied:

"It's full of protests. The last time they raced off Gloucester they had to call it because he couldn't handle his schooner."

"What good would a longer course do if the total distance is the same?"

FINE APPROVES

Captain Ben Pine of the Thebaud strongly supported the fine plans for the races, two of which were to be staged off Boston, two off Gloucester and the third coast off Nahant. He pronounced the two-day race for a three-day event.

"The near shore course is lost because it's a spectators' race. The public is paying for it and they are entitled to see it," said Captain Pine.

Racing committee members agreed that when the Gloucester fishermen went to New Scotland, to battle for the trophy, they accepted the course as laid out by the committee.

For Captain Walters' objection that New Scotland was too far out on the race course, the committee answered that no American schooner was ever on the Gloucester course when the races were held off New Scotland.

Waltham Lineman Is Recovering

Frederick Ouellette, 52, of Weston street, Waltham, a lineman, today was recovering at Waltham Hospital after an accident which shut down half the city's electric power for 25 minutes.

Ouellette was thrown from a pole when one of his climbing spurs split a primary cable carrying 2200 volts. His safety belt saved him from a bad fall. He suffered burns on both legs, right wrist and leg.

National Fisheries Convention Opens

The largest gathering of people engaged in the fish, shell fish and allied industries will be present, when the National Fisheries Convention and Exposition opens at the Hotel Statler, Boston, today, in conjunction with the observance of National Fish and Shell Fish Week.

An unusual feature will be an "hours d'oeuvre" display, at which more than 162 varieties of sea food will be arranged in a display to tempt the appetites of the guests.

The fishery advisory committee of the secretary of commerce will be in operation at the United States Bureau of Fisheries, in conjunction with the display and with the general program of the convention.

Many well known people in the fish and allied industries will address the convention, included among whom will be Frank Bell, commissioner of the United States Bureau of Fisheries; R. J. Gruber, National Seafoods buyer, Cincinnati; O. Myron S. Huckle, president of the United States Fish Commission; and School, Dr. H. H. H. Taylor, president of the American Fisheries Company, New York; Charles E. Jackson, deputy commissioner, United States Bureau of Fisheries, and others.

Among the subjects to be discussed are "Developments of Your Market by Use of Your Newspapers," "By Way of Radio and Speakers," "Within Distances," "The Fishery," "What Has Happened in the Production of Fish and Shell Fishes," "The Fishery," "Effects of Invention," "Effect of Quality," "Breeding," "Transportation."

Lindy Saw Nazis Superior in Air

LONDON, Oct. 5 (REUTERS)—A privately owned biplane, piloted by Lindy, a sensational "inside" discussion today quoted Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh as having declared that the German air force could defeat any opponent.

According to the newspaper, Lindbergh was alleged to have made such a statement Monday at luncheon given in the home of Lady Astor.

Reached by International News Service, Lady Astor admitted that Lindbergh's words had been taken down by her own stenographer.

The Weekly Express, of the American fleet, alleged that Lindbergh was alleged to have said that the German air force could defeat any opponent.

Nation Speeds Defense Plans

(Copyright, 1937)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (INS)—Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson disclosed that Europe's hair-breadth escape from general conflict has speeded America's national defense program.

Johnson, whom President Roosevelt commissioned head of an inter-departmental defense committee, in an exclusive interview with International News Service, said the group "has all bottle necks cataloged and experts to crack some open in the next few months."

In addition to gaps in electric power distribution and industry's lack of jigs and dies to turn out arms and munitions, Johnson said the principal bottle necks were these:

1—Industry's dependence on foreign sources for tin, manganese, tungsten, rubber and other strategic raw materials without which neither the army nor navy could fight.

2—Lack of civilian preproduction facilities to service the vastly expanded air fleet defense experts plan in event the nation is attacked.

Johnson said European events of the past four weeks have "demonstrated the supreme importance of the air arm in military and diplomatic calculations."

While the assistant secretary withheld other comment on the European settlement hacked out at Casablanca's expense in Munich, other informed quarters said army and navy plans stand upon a presumption the four-power pact may disintegrate within six months.

Johnson declared the War Department's aim is "an insubstantial of this country's arms 'to a point so strong no enemy will dare attack us.'"

Accordingly, he said, the interest the Army calculated to elapse between (mobilization) day and the employment of 1,000,000 civilian soldiers in the field has been shortened from one year to six months.

The assistant secretary declared: "In 1917, the German foreign minister declared his government did not fear American intervention. Subsequent events showed he had some basis for the statement, for 14 months elapsed from our declaration of war to the engagement of our first division at Cantigny."

"If our preparedness been adequate then, we should probably not have been drawn in. We propose to make it so now. It is inevitable that we shall ever again be allowed 14 months' grace before having to go into action."

Johnson said the $10,000,000 appropriation for "education policy" will assure industry's production of adequate arms, munitions and gas masks for the nation's initial protective force in event of invasion.

Bluenose-Thebaud Race Definitely On

Capt. Lyons Says Compromise

By International News Service
A "compromise in a trap" suggested today and the "compromise" course was announced between the Nova Scotia schooner Bluenose and the Gloucester schooner Gertrude Thebaud. The race will go on as scheduled, said Captain Lyons.

Authority for the statement was Captain William J. Lyons of the United States merchant inspection service stationed at this port. Lyons said the "compromise" was the product of Canadian skipper Angus Waters against the "merry-go-round" 40 mile triangular course. "It is a round race will be arranged as a reference of the five men race committee in Gloucester this afternoon," Captain Lyons said. "It will be all smoothed out," said Captain Lyons. "I think what we'll do is just add four miles onto each leg of the present 18-mile triangular course, making it a 22-mile triangle. That will make it a 36-mile race instead of a 54. Of course, what we could do is lay out a 40-mile course straight out to sea, putting a big strain on the vessels. But what's the use of making them race that way and then when they get back have them spend gitting or so getting their ships back into shape."

"The modified course will be off Eastern Point, instead of the original two courses, one off the coast and the other off Boston. It will still be in sight of land so shore spectators can witness the race."

Captain Lyons had declared he

Whale Path

Schooner Gertrude Thebaud, which is scheduled to vie for international fishermen's honors in series of races with schooner Bluenose, from Nova Scotia, starting Sunday.

would "take his vessel home" rather than "take the prize" if the race was not run as scheduled. Lyons said the "compromise" course would be a 22-mile triangle, making it a 36-mile race instead of a 54.

2 New Backs Start For B. U. Saturday

With two of his four backs benched with injuries Coach Pat Hanley of Boston University went about the task today of constructing a new backfield for the Terrier's next contest with St. Lawrence Saturday.

With the back field in a state of flux, Coach Hanley was forced to make changes in the lineup. The backfield, which was expected to be a strong point of the team, was now in a state of flux. The backfield, which was expected to be a strong point of the team, was now in a state of flux.

Baer Writes:Herman
Ruined
Bill Lee

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (INS).—Chicago has dropped all plans to pitch Bill Lee straight through the winter. He will be fortunate if he gets by January. Bill threw his insides out against the Yanks in the opener. But the best he could get was the worst of it.

That brings Gomez up against Dizzy Dean in a contest that should be as evenly balanced as a wire walker. We don't think Lee will be ready to start anywhere but for New York on Thursday night. Bill gave everything he had like a street car conductor in a catfish stick-up. Lee is gamier than a salmon heading for Niagara Falls from the East.

That's why we say he will send no more laundry out this year. He threw just as neat a game as Red Ruffing. But, it all went for the garbage man when Herman tried for a point after touchdown in the second inning. Herman's boot of the little apple lost the game for Lee. For once and for all. You cannot take a thing like that into court.

The Cubs got themselves nine whacks at the lumber yard. But like the hobo cooking waffles over a candle, they couldn't make two at the same time.

Daily Double: The losing umpires were Moran and Sears. The official attendance of 44,242 didn't include 3968 officials.

Crossett and Collins covered more ground than a circus tent in a hurry. The Yanks acted very gay in the field and saved Ruffing like he was a pawn ticket for their only overcoat. Outside of the final score the two teams were as well matched as Mrs. Astor's pearls.

Now that the Cubs have discovered that the horrible Yanks are just bums in the right uniform they may get over that last hill into town. Dempsey's reputation whipped more mugs than his glove ever did. At no spot in the results do we see where the Yanks are three-to-one over Chicago.

Bill Dickey started to hang the new pictures when he got four out of four. That would be plenty of bumps even for a Harlem dancer.

Right now there is more nutrition in beer than there is in chewing gum. But the Cubs still have one left in their own landing field. Mayor La Guardia won a pig from Mayor Kelly. La Guardia's stake against the pig was a box of cigars. He would just as soon smoke one as the other.

Lou Gehrig was fouling them off in midseason form. But he never got started with the woodwork. Crossett actually patrolled more territory in person than the Czech-Slovakians lost. Collins was right in back of him with one-handed slabs like a pelican spearing fish. This was an average baseball game that might have been postponed from August. What furnished the excitement were the surroundings, the fact it was the series and the price of tickets.

Yankee SpurN. Y. Victory Fete

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP).—The Yankees are anxious to win the series in five games at the most, so that they can finish in their own stadium and attend the annual "victory banquet" thrown by their owner, Col. Jake Ruppert.

If they wind up the series out here, there will be no banquet, and that would be a real loss.

Oh You
Dickey

Bill Dickey, in addition to leading the Yankee batting attack with four hits, called for a pitchout after Stanley Hack and Herman attempted to put on the hit-and-run. Mr. Herman threw his bat at the ball but the alert Dickey was out in front on the play and beat Hack to the base by three feet.

Tony TellsEx-Pol Lou Fans

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (INS).—In the sixth Tony Lazzeri made good on his job as master-minder. The count was two and two on Gehrig after Henrich had doubled. He called Hack to the dugout. Hack went back and whispered to Lee. Martnett joined in the confab. Lee whipped in a low inside curve and Gehrig almost twisted in two swinging at a third strike.

Gabby, Joe Agree On Today's Status

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (INS).—Today's another day," said Marce Joe McCarthy, and "today's another day," said Gabby Hartnett. And out of the million or so words written about this series so far, they were about the only ones that wouldn't stir up an argument.
